

POYi Emerging Vision Incentive

Incentive Amount: $10,000 (U.S. dollars)

Application Dates: Friday, April 30 through Monday, May 31, 2010

Mission:

- ◆ To fund and showcase documentary work on social issues or political trends by aspiring documentary photographers.
- ◆ To explore and expand avenues of publication and compensation from non-traditional sources.
- ◆ To provide the environment and inspiration for emerging photographers to do work of global significance.
- ◆ To educate and motivate the next generation of social-conscious photojournalists.

Define “emerging”: Amateur and Semi-professional — Primary income is not from the field of photography or journalism.
Student — Officially enrolled in a college, private art school, or trade institute.
Professional photographer —
1.) Less than two years earning a primary income from photography, or 2.) Less than two published works by a media organization, print or online, not including a personal Web site or self-publication.
Note: There are no age limitations.

Type of work: Documentary photography — Defined as visual non-fiction, photojournalism, and/or photo reportage. Photographic work should reflect daily life, social issues, cultural trends, or news events with respect for the integrity of the scene and the intent of the moment. Scenes that are set up or staged by the photographer are not eligible as submissions, as they do not qualify as documentary photography for this program.

Criteria: There are no subject requirements or restrictions.
Proposals should be a new project or continuation of an ongoing project of less than two years shooting time.
Projects must not have been previously published, either in print or online.

How to Apply

What to submit:

- 1.) A two-page written project proposal for a long-term photo story or essay.
- 2.) A few (less than 20) initial photographs as “first takes” that demonstrate the visual potential of the project subject or topic.
- 3.) 12 single portfolio photographs on diverse subjects that demonstrates the photographer's aesthetic capabilities.

4.) Supplemental material such as online research, letters citing support for the project, and other documentation that reflects the impact of the topic on society.

5.) A brief financial budget for the project that reflects how the incentive funding would be used to complete the project.

6.) A completed application form (download pdf form at www.poyi.org)

Application Fee: A one-time application fee of $20 per entrant to POYi for administrative costs. Personal check, money order, or bank cashier's check sent with the CD or DVD.

Application Process: Very simple — Send by courier (mail, FedEx, UPS, or DSL) the required materials listed above burned onto a CD or DVD, plus a check for the application fee, to:
